We specialize in Emerging Markets and we guide you through the process

- The Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) are four-digit codes that categorize the industries that companies belong to based on their business activities
- SIC codes are important when you are processing credit cards, some businesses as the ones who are Emerging Markets get special rates from the card brands
- We make sure that your business is registered so that you get the best rates for your business type

NPS will work with your organization to set up your website, software, point of sale or machines.

We can even enable the Cash Discount Program so you can process for 0% in some cases along with ACH transactions.
